As a respected national leader in the industry, alene workman interior design has grown in stature, working throughout the United States. Led by principal designer and namesake Alene Workman, the company provides design services with enthusiasm and resolve. "As a boutique, bespoke firm, we are forward-thinking, always ahead of the crowd and looking for the most original solutions and tools to convey our creative thoughts and intentions," Workman says. With dual degrees in art and interior design, Workman has found her perfect harmony in interior design, through which all of her creative talents blend together. Known to find inspiration in all aspects of life, from fine art, fashion and architecture to a client's personality and the surrounding natural world, Workman and her team employ a love of discovery when working on a project. "We focus on the art of design, and we offer strategic project leadership, respecting our client's needs and coordinating them effortlessly into our designs," Workman says.
